WHIDBEY ISLAND HORSE COUNCIL
MEETING MIINUTES: 10/7/2026

The meeting was called to order at 6:30pm. Seven people were in attendance.

Sally projected the new Horse Council webpage on the monitors and a discussion regarding the page followed. All attendees agreed that the webpage looked very good and was going to be an amazing resource for Whidbey horse lovers. A process was agreed upon for the people attending the meeting to assess the webpage and the Whidbey Equine Directory included in the webpage. That process is that we will try using the webpage and send any comments we have regarding the page user interface to Bruce and to send any proposed added content for the webpage to Leslie. Barb will contact Adam and they will work on the content for the disaster preparedness section of the webpage. Bruce, Leslie and Barb will organize the comments and will contact Karena who will coordinate with Vickie regarding the proposed changes/adjustments. Comments should be forwarded to Bruce, Leslie or Barb by October 28th.

Bruce purchased a copy of the National Horse Council Economic impact survey and will share it with Leslie to use as a possible model for our Whidbey Island survey.

The possibility of creating a horse park at Greenbank Farms was discussed. Sandy reported that she had talked to Robbie, the woman in Bellingham who is involved with Sunset Farms, a Whatcom County Park near the border that is used as a Horse Park. Sandy reported that the land was a former breeding farm and was sold to the County as a park for equestrian use. The Park is run as a non-profit run by volunteers through the local dressage club, membership dues and the “Friends of Sunset Farms”. We will continue looking at other examples of Horse Parks (such as the Vashon Horse Park) as models for GBF.

Barb mentioned the the Whidbey Island Trail Riders are sponsoring a Halloween Ride on October 31st at Putney Woods. All Island riders are invited. Wear your spooky costume!
There will be a recognition event honoring Louise Mueller for her role in creating the Pony Club on Whidbey. The event will be Nov. 14th.
The next meeting will be Nov. 4th at the Race Road Fire Station @ 6:30pm.
